New Sign For Drug Store

The Rexall sign for Appomattox Drug Store was just about in place with workmen from Bennett T. Matthews Const. Co. doing the final installation work Friday afternoon as pharmacist H. Now Route 460 west has another lighted sign, but this one, unlike holiday decorations, won't come down after the holidays.

Traffic Signals Are Promised

Traffic signals at two intersections of town streets with Route 460 have been approved by the Va. Dept. of Highways according to a letter received this week by Appomattox mayor H. B. Pack, Jr.

Mayor Pack said Tuesday that the efforts of a great many people over a long period of time helped to bring about approval of the lights at the intersection of Route 460 and Church Street (Rt. 727) at the eastern end of town and Route 460 and Court Street (Rt. 131) at the western end of town.

In the notification letter, J.H. Phillips, District Engineer, wrote, "Once funds are approved for installation of traffic signals, it requires two to four months to secure controllers for the installation. Therefore, it will be late spring or early summer before signals can be installed for operation.

A copy of this letter was also received by John Danny Simpson, Jr., president of the Appomattox County Jaycees. The Jaycees presented a resolution to the Va. Dept. of Highways asking for traffic signals.

"Caution"

All persons bearing gifts this Christmas may not bring you good tidings. Some will instead offer amphetamine, barbiturate, marijuana, hashish and other harmful drugs. Smaller towns such as ours will have visitors from larger cities and colleges in the area for the holidays. It is necessary that we remember an experimentation with drugs or narcotics could lead to permanent psychological or physical disorders; sometimes for the remainder of your life. If someone trys to turn you on to drugs – turn them off. Thousands of youth are losing jobs, failing school, and being arrested due to the serious effects of drug abuse. We respect and look forward to the leadership of our youth. We wish you and your love ones A Very Merry Christmas and hope this warning will be honored if faced with the decision.

No Action On Referendum

Supervisors OK 'Rock Ordinance'

Deputy Sheriff Gene Richardson, talking over sheriff's department matters with Appomattox county supervisors Friday morning is caught by television camera operated by news reporter Deanna Lawrence of WLVA-TV, Lynchburg. This is the first time TV coverage has been given to a supervisors' meeting. From the left: O. H. Tolley, Sr., Pamplin; Mrs. Aldah B. Gordon, clerk; chairman O. W. Martin, Jr., Oakville; John C. Cole, Appomattox and Deputy Richardson.

A motion to have a second $2,000,000 bond referendum hold to build a new central high school in Appomattox county died for lack of a second as Appomattox supervisors met on Friday morning.

John C. Cole, Southside magisterial district supervisor, said he would continue to offer the same motion each month until some action is taken on the matter.

The first bond referendum to contract a debt in the maximum amount of $2 million and to issue bonds for the proposed $3 million school was defeated by only six votes in the November 3rd general election. Vote on Nov. 3 was 1749 for and 1755 votes against.

During the November meeting of the supervisors, John C. Cole made a motion identical to the one offered Friday, saying that the close vote called for a second referendum. It (the motion) failed at that time for lack of a second from either of the other two members of the three-man board.

The superintendent of schools Earl J. Smith, Jr. appeared before the board before the motion was made to request affirmative action on the November resolution by the School Board to have the referendum held.

Asking for the referendum, said Smith "does not signify approval or disapproval" by the supervisors. The School Board, he said, "would like to put the issue before the voters where other issues are now up for a vote."

Earl Agee, chairman of the Appomattox County Committee for Better Schools, also spoke to the supervisors earlier in the morning deliberations, saying he was speaking as private citizen and requesting the referendum to foster "the best education possible for my children and others."

An ordinance was approved by the board subject to a public hearing stipulating that $1,000 da day be charged to any promoter of outdoor entertainment with a $5,000 deposit in case of damage) almost identical to a so-called "rock festival" ordinance passed by other counties in the area.

Commonwealth's Attorney Harry G. Lawson also discussed details of a trailer licensing ordiance which will go into effect January 1. He pointed out that all trailer lots are required to have the $2.00 license.

Tourists or others may have a trailer or mobile home in a given location for as much as 30 days without a license.

Considerable discussion was given to the matter of Saturday closing hours, by the various

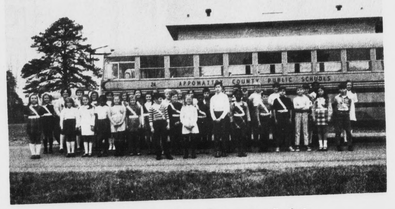
John Thomas Paulette is Shopping Tour chairman. Jaycee president is J. D. Simpson.



Fourth Graders Promote Safety

The big yellow school bus in the background serves school children in Appomattox County, and these safety-patrol boys and girls of Appomattox Primary School do their part by seeing that pupils get on and off the buses safely. Says principal, Mrs. Julian Hesson, "we've had no accidents this year because of their very effective services." Mrs. Hesson pointed out, also, that these are fourth graders working efficiently at tasks which used to be assigned only to seventh graders before school consolidation last February. Officers for the Patrol include David Harvey, captain; Christopher Johnson and Sue Lawson, lieutenants; Timothy Mayberry and Bernice Bagby, sergeants (all on front row). Behind them: Freddy Mitchell, Kirby Funderburke, Mary Dyess, Pam Smith, Barry Martin, Timmy Martin, Irby Jones, Steven Young, Peggy Handy, Karen Fratrick, Donna Cawthorne, Jesse Rosser, Benny Harvey, Pam Taylor, Stefon Lipford, Mark Thomas, Andy Mullins, Susan Godsey, Diann Langford, Sharon Roach, Michael Harvey, Pam Phelps, Jerry Mitchell, Cheryl Conner, Dee Ann Wooten, Shelby Dunnam, Lisa White, Ronnie Harris, Carole Beaty, Sherri Harris, Susan Smith, Carolyn Elder, Janet Booker and Michael Rowe.
